

H-P Heads Selectmen Priorities

With town meeting completed, the Selectmen will be turning their attention to a list of priorities established for themselves.

Prior to the annual session, Chairman Milton Greenberg asked his colleagues to set up a list of items and number them in priority order in order that they could set about a schedule for action in the months ahead.

Among the top priority items are the Hewlett-Packard development in West Andover, the future of the central business district planning and Elm Square traffic, land use policy, regional planning and a water rate policy.

The water rate policy has been pretty well established and set for implementation. It will effect large water users when a new rate goes into effect in the summer.

As for the Hewlett-Packard property, the selectmen are still awaiting the "trigger" action to begin the town's phase of the development of the West Andover Industrial area.

There will be no commitment by the town for the construction of a trunk sewer line until such time as H-P obtains a building permit.

Whether the $2.5 million available for sewer line construction will be sufficient remains to be seen. The funds were approved at the annual town meeting in the spring of 1973, and costs have risen substantially since then.

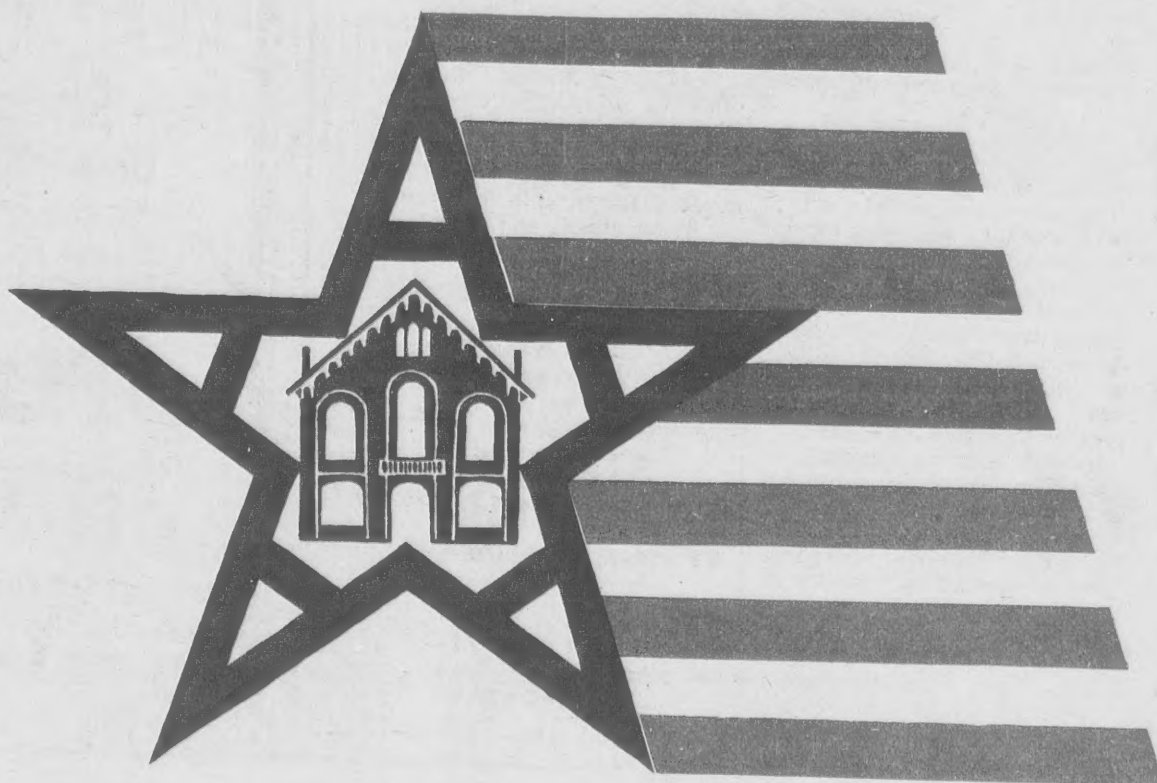

The medical electronics firm, which was to initiate construction work this spring, is now looking toward an early summer starting date.

The future of the central business district will be aided in the planning process by the survey to be taken in conjunction with the state census during May.

The information obtained in the questionnaire which will accompany the census form, will be used to determine what the townspeople desire in the way of future commercial and business planning for the town.

With these results, the selectmen intend to set a direction for the planning of the downtown area, including the traffic conditions in Elm

Andover Bicentennial 1776-1976

Those are the simple black words that will skirt the bottom of the town's colorful new Bicentennial logo. James Batchelder, 93 Argilla Road, won the Bicentennial Commission's search for an appropriate logo with this design of Town Hall in black, surrounded by a blue star and red stripes, on a white background. His logo was chosen from a field of 86, winning a $100 prize. All the entries have been on display at the Andover Savings bank.

Commission Takes Issue With Bicentennial Stamp

The Andover Bicentennial Commission, has registered objection and disappointment with the Postmaster General of the United States, over the issuance of commemorative stamp in Cambridge.

The committee feels the issuance should have taken place in Andover to honor Salem Poor, one of the first Black heroes of the Revolution.

In a letter to the Postmaster General, Mrs. Norma Gammon, bicentennial chairman, notes that Poor, a black slave freed by his master, John Poor of Andover, was from Andover, and she questions why the commemorative stamp was issued in Cambridge. Also, the committee is desirous of knowing how Salem Poor was chosen as a subject for the stamp.

Historical research done by Col. Edward Harris of Andover, shows that Salem Poor served through most of the Revolution. His residence in the register of those who served in the war is listed as Andover, and he was a member of the First Andover Company. He was listed to serve for a term of three years through Jan. 1, 1780.

The text of the letter forwarded to Washington by Mrs. Gammon:

Dear Sir:

"The Andover Bicentennial Commission was recently established by the Town of Andover in Essex County, Massachusetts, to develop and carry out plans for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the American Revolution. There are many ways in which Andover played a part in that war, but perhaps the most important of these was represented by the men and women of the town who took an active part in the political and military life of the times.

"We were pleased to hear that a commemorative stamp honoring 'Contributors to the Cause' was to be issued honoring Salem Poor, a resident of Andover, a black slave who had been freed by his master, John Poor, and who had enlisted in Captain Benjamin Ames' Company, Col. James Frye's Regiment. Captain Ames' Company was one of the two companies of Minute Men raised by the Town of Andover. In fact, both

Co-Op Sale Near

The doors of the Andover Consumer's Co-Op will not be closed, though a new owner may take over within the month.

Co-Op President Alfred Daniels said this week that "a couple of very good people" are interested in buying the Co-Op as a going grocery concern.

He said the possible buyers could not be identified at the present time but added that they were "very close" to a purchase and sale agreement. "We may close on it this week," he said.

Daniels also added that "we are not going to close our doors," and that the Co-Op is not losing money at the present time. In fact, it had a profit of $500 for the first quarter of this year. During the same period, January through March of 1974, the store lost $13,000.

The panel of experts, who will be asked questions by a panel of League members, includes State Senator William Saltonstall, State Rep. Gerald Cohen, Assistant Town Manager Sheldon Cohen and Finance Committee member Dana Duxbury.

Among the topics to be covered will be 100 per cent assessment of property in Andover and how the state will pay its bills this year.

To Address Problems Of Senior Citizens

Frank J. Manning, president of the Massachusetts Association of Older Americans, will speak on growing old, and specific economic problems affecting older Americans, next Wednesday at Merrimack College.

Manning's lecture, sponsored by the college's Urban Affairs Seminar, will take place in the Alumni Hall of the McQuade Library, at 4 p.m.

Recognized as the chief lobbyist and spokesperson for senior citizens in Massachusetts, Manning has become almost a regular feature of Boston television newscasts.

He became a senior citizen in 1967 and set out to organize the Legislative Council for Older Americans. The Council consists of senior clubs and councils, which represent nearly 75,000 persons throughout the state.

In 1969, Manning founded the Massachusetts Association of Older Americans as a private, non-profit organization of individual members which provides outreach and service to the elderly.

He was appointed deputy secretary of the State Office of Elder Affairs when that office was instituted in 1971, but resigned shortly thereafter to devote more time to lobbying for legislation affecting the elderly.

Now in its sixth year, the Urban Affairs Seminar has previously tackled low income housing, a connector road from Route 93 to Downtown Lawrence, the Lawrence Redevelopment Authority and the Lawrence Housing Authority.

This year's topic is the problems with the elderly in the Greater Lawrence.

Heading up the seminar are Dr. Francis E. Griggs, Jr., of Andover, chairman of the Engineering Department, and Sociology Professor Jerry F. Boren of Watertown.

Senior citizens and all area residents are invited to Manning's lecture Wednesday. A reception will follow the lecture, also at no charge.

Examination of a government center - town hall renovation, moving the location to present East Junior High and what to do about Sacred Heart school in Shawshen - are among the considerations to be faced.

The Sacred Heart School Study Committee is expected to make a report to the town within the week of their findings and recommendations.

Relief for Ballardvale traffic is included in this phase of the "plan for action." The board intends to continue to strive for a Route 93 interchange in Lowell Junction, thus relieving the heavy trucking and employee traffic going through the center of Ballardvale to new industries in the Lowell Junction.

The board also intends to continue its study of a recommended sewer use charge policy with implementation expected this summer. This is in line with participation in the Greater Lawrence Sanitary Waste District.

The board will also have to face a decision on the solid waste problem soon, with the regional committee about to act on a construction plant to serve the Greater Lawrence communities.

In the third phase of priorities for action, the selectmen have listed: Cable TV, central building maintenance policy, including schools; energy conservation measures, local transportation, police administration, refine selectmen's job description, street maintenance policy, town planner, traffic administration and form of town government.

The various items are expected to intersperse the agenda in the months ahead.

his job as early as next Monday.

An agreement is expected to be signed in which Becker agrees that he will enjoy the same rights as other department heads - no more, no less.

Becker has tenure as a teacher, but the school committee's concern has been that a reinstatement not mean that Becker has tenured rights as a department head.

Becker will also receive full back department head pay, amounting to an extra $1,500.

Mrs. Hattie Hannigan, who has been temporary department head, will return to full duties as an English teacher, upon Becker's reinstatement.

The Concord Antiquarium Museum, Lexington Road, features Emerson's library, Thoreau's Walden furniture and the original Old North Church Revere lantern. Open Saturdays 10 to 4; Sundays, 2 to 4.

Behavior Classrooms Considered

The overwhelming majority of Andover students are doing a fine job, Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert told the school committee last week.

However, he said, a few are causing such difficulties it might become necessary to set up special behavior classrooms.

It's time to start thinking about the 99 per cent who behave, by taking care of the minority who don't Seifert said.

In that vein, he said he had directed the administrators to push for quick action on those who are causing problems - such as using profanity in the classrooms, chronic tardiness, absenteeism, class-cutting.

"We will have to be much more deliberate," Seifert said, adding that one solution might be to actually set up behavior classes. Other possibilities include sending those youngsters out to special classes under the 766 program. For those who are "normal" but just cause trouble, he said, "we may have to expel them."

The expulsion route, he said, had not been used in "many, many years."

Seifert said the "trouble makers" cover a wide range of behavior.

One group the schools will have to focus on, he said, are those youngsters who have little or no respect for the schools.

When we meet with the parents, he said, it's obvious that they also have little or no respect for them either.

Some can be suspended three or four times, he said, with little success. Detention just doesn't work in many cases, he said, and neither does soft-sell counselling.

The problems exist primarily in the secondary schools, Seifert said, though there have been some in the elementary grades as well.

In other action last Thursday night, the school committee approved a maternity leave extension for Mrs. Margaret Fenton, a high school English teacher who was granted a leave in

Serigraphs On Exhibit

An exhibition of colorful serigraphs by Beverly Edwards will open at the Andover Gallery of Fine Art, 91 North Main St., Andover, on April 26. The showing of more than 20 graphics will remain on view through May 9. Gallery hours are: 9-5:30, Tuesdays - Saturdays and 2-5 Sundays.

A painter, sculptor and print-maker, Ms Edwards studied at the University of Georgia and the Atlanta Art Institute. Her paintings, prints and architectural light sculpture have won numerous Boston area and national awards.

January till the end of the school year. Her new extension includes all of the 1975-76 school year.

Miss Jean Goldman, an art teacher at South and West Elementary Schools, was also given a sabbatical leave of absence for next year, to study for her master's degree. She has been accepted into Lesley College's Institute for the Arts and Human Development.

The committee also granted a special education bus route till the end of the year, to William and Dorothy Piercy for $12 per day, plus 35 cents for extra mileage.

Selectmen Set Priorities

Square. Included in their land use policy study will be an examination of the direction which must be taken with regard to implementing the 100 per cent valuation program. The Andover assessors have responded to the state in regard to what the town plans to do to conform - a revaluation next year with full implementation by 1978.

Regional planning phase of the priority schedule is expected to result in the board continuing efforts to gain more local control and voice in the regional concept. Both Chairman Greenberg and Selectman Alan F. French have been critical of some of the direction of regional planning in the past and can be expected to be staunch in their views toward gaining a fuller voice for Andover in any regional commitments.

The second stage of the priority schedule includes introduction of computer services and central purchasing system of the town. This will involve the school department as approved at town meeting.

Bridge Sitting

By Lyn Beattie

This is another in a series of articles about the Andover Village Improvement Society reservations in Andover. AVIS acquires woodlands, green areas, wetlands and riverbanks to preserve their trees, plants, wildlife and scenic beauty. Walking trails are maintained for public use, and all activities consistent with conservation objectives are encouraged.

Within a mile of Town Hall the Shawsheen River Reservation preserves 27 acres of rural Andover. It is essentially open grassland and affords a pleasant observation of fauna and flower along the banks of the Shawsheen River as well as providing a popular fishing spot.

This land was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Chester D. Abbott in 1963. As AVIS already owned the Vale Reservation at this time, it afforded a continuous stretch of public land from Central St. to Ballardvale, preserving the west side of the river for townspeople to enjoy.

This reservation is easily reached from the center of town by following Central St. to the Abbott Bridge (Horn Bridge). Enter between the bridge and the railroad overpass where AVIS signs are posted. Walk across the meadow and cross a brook on a newly constructed footbridge. This is New Hope stream, the outlet for Baker's Meadow. Follow the trail left toward the river where it remains near it for some distance. Continue on until a stile provides a means of crossing a wire fence. This marks the end of the Shawsheen Reservation and one can turn back or continue across a small town owned piece of land, then on through AVIS's Vale Reservation to Ballardvale.

The Shawsheen River has long been appreciated by enthusiastic sportspersons for canoeing. It rises as a quiet little meadow stream in Bedford and eventually flows into the Merrimack River in Lawrence. One can easily put in off Dale St. in Ballardvale and canoe downstream through this winding, seemingly remote area of wilderness, stopping at the Abbott Bridge or traversing the rapids under it and going on to a dam farther downstream.

Each spring AVIS sponsors a canoe race between the Abbott Bridge and Ballardvale and this year it will be held May 3rd. There are categories for everyone from children to the most energetic, and many find pleasure in watching and picnicking along the banks.

Waterbirds nest along the river's edge, as evidenced by the many nests, and now the mallards, black and wood ducks and the red-winged blackbirds are particularly active. Muskrats inhabit the river, and their holes along the banks can be seen when the water level is low. On a sunny afternoon painted turtles sun themselves on logs and use the grassy islands on which to bury their eggs in the summer. Children will be fascinated by a large tree between the trail and

Along the edge of the field golden brambles and shrubs are beginning to spring up. ### Computer Is Key John Dennis of Andover, an executive with Digital Corp. in Maynard, presents the keys to a "Digital Edutech" computer to Assistant High School Principal Stephen Richardson, while Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert looks on. Computer will be used primarily in secondary math and science classes.

Gift Computer Goes To School

The Andover School System -- and the secondary math and science classes in particular -- are one computer richer this week, thanks to the magnanimity of the Digital Corp. of Maynard. Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert said that the "Edutech" computer, handed over to the schools last week as a total "operating system," might also have some space for administrative functions.

However, he said, it will be used primarily in math and science classes, for algebraic equations, logarithms and matrix algebra and the like. Other school systems have developed programs that Andover can use, he said.

This is the only computer that Andover schools own "on our own," Seifert said, adding that Assistant High School Principal Stephen Richardson would be in charge of the unit.

Seifert said the computer, on the open market, would cost $33,-

In addition to giving Andover the "hardware" however, Seifert said Digital Corp. has also given some spaces in training programs, so that Andover faculty members can go away and learn how to operate the unit.

He is currently Ordinary Professor to the University for Artistic and Industrial Design in Linz. In 1973 he received six national awards for book design in Austria and abroad, and he has also received a number of gold medals and diplomas in Paris, Trieste, Rome, London, and Stockholm.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION

"It is a well known adage that one cannot serve two masters. An insurance agent who is a salaried employee of an insuring company cannot help but lean toward the company in making claim settlements. Is this why a majority of the public avoids the 'captive' agent and insures instead with a local independent agent?"

PA Cellists In Recital On Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Abbot Chapel at Phillips Academy, there will be a cello recital sponsored by the Phillips Academy Music Department.

Works of Beethoven, Brahms and Villa-Lobos will be presented.

The soloists are William Thomas, cello, and Carolyn Skelton, piano. Both musicians are faculty members at PA. Mrs. Skelton is a graduate of Hastings College in Nebraska and the New England Conservatory. She was also a Fulbright scholar and studied organ with Anton Heiller.

Also included in the program is a performance of the Villa-Lobos Bachianas Brasileiras Number 5 for soprano and Orchestra of Violoncelli. The soprano soloist for this work is Bada Lorencio, also a member of the music faculty of Phillips. Mrs. Lorencio has studied at the New England Conservatory in Boston, Conservatory of Puerto Rico, San Juan,

New Art Show At Gallery

An exhibition called Nothing Is Certain But Change is continuing at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, Andover. Using works of art from the Permanent Collection, the show investigates the nature of change including cyclical change, the aging process and the alternate generation syndrome. One gallery explores the cause of the current ratio rate of change.

A special opening event includes the performance of George Crumb's Vox Balaenae (Voice of the Whales) written in 1971 for electric flute, electric cello and electric piano. Wearing masks and performing under a blue light, as specified by the composer, Marcia Mulroney (flute), Chris Keys (piano), and William Thomas (cello) will play the piece several times. Films by three filmmakers, Stephen Marx, Jeff McDowell and W. G. Hamilton present the possibilities of film as an abstract medium. "Logan Airport" by Marx emphasizes impressions rather than documentation. Containing only a few photographic images, most of McDowell's "Epic" results from painting, scratching and welding the film base. Photographic records of abstract light patterns form the basis of Hamilton's work. The exhibition continues through May 18.

The Addison Gallery is open free to the public - Mondays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sundays 2:30 - 5 p.m.

Y Swimmers Fit For Miles

The six-lane pool at the Andover-North Andover YMCA on Haverhill Street, has seen a lot of action in its six month's of existence.

This spring, 913 individuals were enrolled for formal instruction, with many more participating in recreational swims. One of the lesser-known, but growing programs is the Red Cross Swim for Fitness Program, in which 278 individuals have enrolled to date.

These people regularly swim numerous laps of the 75-foot pool, recording multiples of quarter-mile stints. The participants may be of any age and in almost any physical condition, and the group includes individuals with cardio-respiratory problems, post-operatives, senior citizens, pregnant women, and many who are just interested in being physically fit.

Red Cross certification cards are awarded for several stages of accomplishment in 10-mile intervals.

The first major goal is the 50-mile award earned by swimming 3,600 lengths. The first to receive this award were Mary Dow, Bevolyn Oliver, Helen Batchelder and Robert Wright.

A forty-mile award has been presented to Barbara Lybrand; a 30 mile card to George Farrar; and 20-mile cards to Sandra Chubbuck, Leonard Tatem, Eva Westphalen, Joan Wilde and Elmor Wright.

Official monitor and record keeper for the program is instructor Helen Belluschi.

Winning Season

Gary Park, left, and his brother Larry, right, had a successful ski season with the UMass Ski Team. Larry, who will graduate in June, was team captain. He has raced on the varsity team for four years, leading the Minutemen to division and league championships this year. Gary is in his second year with the varsity team. In the Canadian - American College Races against 15 international teams, he finished 38 in a field of 90. UMass won the first Can-Am series and placed second in sixth in the second.

Eighth Graders Upset In Finals

Joe Salamone came off the bench to score a game-high 16 points and spark top-seeded Wakefield Junior High to a comeback 52-40 victory over Andover in the eighth grade division championship finals of the third annual Wakefield Basketball Tournament Sunday at the Wakefield High fieldhouse.

The Andover club advanced to the finals in the 13-team field by defeating Malden 62-56 in the semifinals, Reading 61-59 in the quarterfinals and Burlington 64-40 in a preliminary round game. Wakefield, after drawing a preliminary round bye reached the finals after successively thrashing Stoneham 72-30 and North Reading 50-28.

In Sunday's finals Andover, paced by the scoring of Jim Arnold, Ed Collins and Tom Curtin opened a 26-19 lead at halftime and appeared on the brink of an upset. But Collins, a key player for Andover, fouled out in the third period and Wakefield, with superior depth, quickly took advantage of the situation and spurred to a 9-point lead midway through the fourth quarter.

Todd Orlando's three foul shots cut the deficit to 6 points with two minutes left. Wakefield then froze the ball and built up to their eventual winning margin by converting from the free throw line when Andover was forced to foul to get possession of the ball.

Andover was led by Curtin with 13, Arnold with 10, Collins 9, Frank Pelletier 5 and Orlando 3. Also seeing game action for the local entry were Carmen Frederico, Richie Marciano, Scott Praetz and Chris Fortune.

In the 62-56 semifinal triumph over Malden a great overall game by Curtin with 22 points was needed to counter the deadly jump shooting of Mike Woods, 6'3" center of the losers, who led all scorers with 33 points. Arnold and Collins also hit double figures for Andover with 16 and 14 points respectively. Fortune with 6 points and Pelletier with 4 rounded out the scoring for the local team.

Registers Top Ski Performance

Bill Whiteford, age 17, of Andover, turned in the best Pepsi-Cola Junior NASTAR ski racing performance of the week in Vail, Colorado. His time for the slalom race was 29.0 seconds which translates into a national "handicap" of 17. The time and handicap rank the youngster among the best ski racers of that age group in the country.

The second best time was 34.6 seconds for a "handicap" of 34 for fourteen year old Jane Rabuse of Mountain Brook, Alabama.

Pepsi-Cola Junior NASTAR (National Standard Race) is a ski racing program conducted at more than 80 top ski areas in the country. A youngster's time over a slalom race course is sent to a computer center in Aspen, Colorado where it is compared and evaluated against the times turned in by all other youngsters in that age group. The youngster is then issued a national "handicap" that indicates how he or she compares to the best in the nation.

Knitting Bee's

Members of The Haven have spent the past few months knitting and crocheting lap afghans, for residents of Andover nursing homes. Showing off some of their works are, from left, Mrs. Margaret Cole, Mrs. Anna Yancy and Mrs. Elsie Mowat.

Afghans Symbol Of Friendship

Every patient in an Andover nursing home is just a little bit warmer these days, thanks to the ladies down at The Haven.

Since October, the senior set has been knitting and crocheting away on more than 150 lap afghans, in every color and pattern imaginable.

The Afghans have now been presented, each with an individual visit, to patients at the Hughes, Randolph and Cole homes.

"It's just fantastic what these people have done," says Mrs. Doris Hudgins, Haven director. Many of them have been working at home on the project, as well as every Thursday at The Haven."

Some additional afghans will be displayed May 18 at the Haven's open house, she added. While they invested in a great deal of materials themselves, much of the yarn was also donated by people in the community.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

Anyone interested in providing transportation for senior citizens to the hot lunch program at the Voke School, either regularly or occasionally is urged to contact The Haven (475-3968 or 475-4165). The ability of The Haven facilities to transport is being used to its utmost and there are still those in need of transportation. The hot lunch program is scheduled only on school days and is terminated any time schools are closed. Mothers of school age children might consider giving an hour or so one day a week to serve this important need. Mrs. Doris Hudgins, the Director of The Haven, will welcome your call.

A new day's trip has been announced to Rye Beach, N.H. May 13 leaving The Haven at 10 a.m. Lunch will be at Hector's Country Kitchen in Rye. Transportation will cost $2.25, and lunch price will be in addition and determined by individual menu choice. Stop by The Haven now and make your reservation.

The Haven is having an Open House Sunday afternoon, May 18 from 1:30 to 5 and everyone is invited to come in and visit to see The Haven activity. Refreshments will be served and you are urged to bring your friends.

Dr. Glidden Graduation Speaker

Commencement exercises will be held Sunday, May 4, in Cohen Auditorium for the 105-member Tufts University School of Dental Medicine (TUSDM) Class of 1975, the last to graduate under the dental school's former four-year curriculum.

Noted pathologist H. Spencer Glidden, M.D., of Andover, will deliver the Commencement Address. Dr. Glidden, an educator for more than four decades, was honored last May by former dental students as "a beloved and respected teacher of thousands, who added a superior level of excellence to their professional stature."

The class of 1975 represents 13 states, India and Korea. There are 57 graduates from Massachusetts, 22 from New York, six from Maine, five each from Connecticut and New Jersey and one each from the eight other states, India and Korea.

Canned hams requiring refrigeration may be stored unopened in the refrigerator up to 6 months. Other hams, wrapped closely, may be kept frozen at zero degrees for only one or two months, as frozen cured meat loses quality rapidly.

Tips On Adding Life To Car

Is it worth a few minutes of your time to guard your share of a $7 billion fortune? That's what statistics show Americans spend every year on auto repairs and care services - enough to buy every man, woman and child in the country a $33 birthday present.

Here are some car care tips from experts to help you and your car celebrate more "Happy Birthdays":

1. Warm up slowly. A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your car, even in summer. Never race your cold engine, though; it may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.

2. Use your engine to save your brake linings. Anticipate slowdowns. When you see you must slow down, take your foot off the accelerator slowly and let the engine's compression do some of the job. Always keep the master brake cylinder full of super heavy-duty fluid.

3. Give your car polish. A film that protects the finish is provided by waxes.

4. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications. The spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at just the right moment. Incorrect timing costs you power, cuts mileage and may cause knocking which eventually, if it becomes chronic, can damage your engine.

'The Good Weather' A Time To Visit History

'The good weather,' as New Englanders like to describe the spring and summer months, is a time to get out and enjoy the surroundings.

In this particular section of the country this year and next are particularly significant as the nation observed the bicentennial. What better place than Massachusetts and New England to view our historic past and what better way than leisurely family driving to memorable and historic places.

Whether your driving by for business or pleasure, the following dealers, participating in this annual special section of the TOWNSMAN, are ready to assist your every need:

the federal minimum wage if they follow regulations developed by the U.S. Department of Labor to prevent abuses.

Body Upkeep Important

A beautiful body - - automotive as well as human - - doesn't stay that way without shrewd and steady upkeep. Yet, few drivers know how to keep their cars youthfully sleek.

Here are some questions and answers on car-care routine that will enhance your buggy's beauty as well as its trade-in value:

1. Do you hose your car with a good strong jet of water?

You're courting nicks and scratches if you do. The blast may actually drive grit into the finish and scratch the windows.

2. What's the water-drop test?

It's an easy way to gauge the rust-resistance of your chrome. Pour a few drips of water on chrome surfaces. If the drops form little beads, your chrome is okay, but if they spread in patches over the surface, get out some chrome cleaner. It cleans and restores beauty to chromium and other metals, and removes and prevents rust.

3. How often should you polish your car?

Every three or four months, but chrome may need more frequent protection against the elements.

The five most effective keys to gasoline savings for drivers, ranked in order of importance by an automotive trade association, are a well-tuned engine, a light foot on the accelerator pedal, "green" traffic lights, proper tire inflation and general car maintenance.

The automotive Parts and Accessories Association, comprised of retailers, manufacturers and other marketing automotive products, says three items requiring particular attention for a well-tuned engine are: the automatic choke, ignition points and spark plugs.

"The ignition points should be in good condition, the automatic choke and spark plugs should be properly adjusted," APAA staff engineer Scott Connor notes, "and the plugs should be clean and in the proper heat range. Spark plugs that are too hot or too cold waste fuel."

How To Handle Minor Accidents

It's always frightening because it's always unexpected. You're driving along, minding your own business, keeping your eyes on the road, when suddenly you hear the blast of a horn, the screeching of brakes, and WHAM!

You've had an accident. Everyone's all right, but your car and that other one that seemed to come from nowhere are in an awful mess. The shock and spills are over, but ahead of you lies a lot of expense, worry and red tape.

In order to minimize the bureaucratic and legal complexities surrounding your accident it is a good idea to immediately obtain pertinent information from the driver of the other vehicle. Accompanying this article is a checklist which the ALA Auto and Travel Club has prepared for you to clip out and keep in the glove compartment of your car. Should you have the misfortune to have an accident, use this form as an aid in noting down facts that you may need later for filling out police reports and insurance claims.

Stapel this form to a blank piece of paper on which you can draw a diagram of the accident site. This information is required on accident reports and it would be wise to sketch it while you are at the scene and the events are fresh in your mind.

It is important to get the name and address of the other driver, as well as the license number of the vehicle. Ask to see his registration also. If there are any passengers in the other car, write down the names and addresses of all witnesses; you may need them in the event of a court case. Remember, the law requires that you show your license and registration to the other party at his request, whether or not the accident was your fault.

But be careful not to offer any unnecessary information to the other party or to witnesses that might be damaging to you later. Never voluntarily admit that you were responsible for the accident; even if you were responsible, the smartest move is to clam up until the police arrive. Even a sympathetic "Gee, I'm sorry" could be misinterpreted by a witness. You owe a full explanation only to the police.

But even more important than legal considerations, is the physical safety of yourself and others.

If you are the first one at the scene of a car crash, pull over to the side of the road, away from traffic lanes and at least 50 feet from the nearest accident car. First help the injured and account for the occupants of all vehicles. Call for medical aid, if needed. Help the injured, but do not move anyone unless they are endangered by traffic or fire.

The Silent Killer

The Auto Club of Merrimack Valley warns motorists that carbon monoxide gas is one of winter's most perilous driving dangers because its fumes are both odorless and colorless. For protection against this hazard, the club advises drivers to:

Check the vehicle exhaust system for leaky mufflers or tailpipes or cracks in the floor panels.

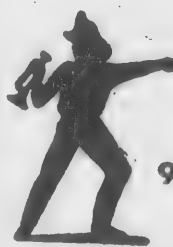

Make certain to keep fresh air circulating in the car even if the car is stopped and the engine is still running to provide heat.

Tips For Trips

Whether you are planning to drive clear across country, or only to the next state, there are many little details you should know to make your automobile trip that much more fun, easy, and safe.

The ALA Auto and Travel Club offers you this handy checklist of do's and don't's for an enjoyable journey.

Here are some things you should consider carefully before you leave home:

Make motel and hotel reservations early.

If you plan several nights on the road, make the advance reservations for each night based on how far you plan to drive that day.

An average day's driving covers anywhere from 300 to 400 miles.

A quick calculation of approximately how long it will take can be figured by dividing the estimated daily mileage into the total miles to your destination.

For general upkeep, arrange to have your lawn cut and leave plants and pets with a friend.

Take precautions against theft: lock all doors and windows, ask the police to check your house periodically, suspend all deliveries, and leave a few shades up for a "lived-in" look.

Fire precautions are equally as important; shut off all appliances and unplug all electric cords; close lids on all flammable cleaning products and paint cans tightly; notify the fire department of your absence.

It is always wise to leave an itinerary, phone numbers and house keys with a relative or trusted friend.

The last thing you need on a vacation is car trouble. Have a complete tune-up, be sure the mechanic checks the auto's vitals.

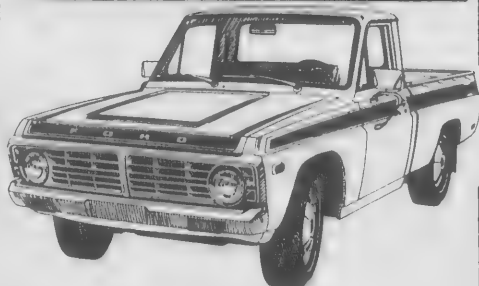

When driving on an expressway, it's wise to know your correct exit ahead of time. If you should miss that exit, go on to the next one. Never back up onto a crowded expressway.

Mid-Engined Porsche In Two Versions

Porsche's 914 - - the most popular mid-engined sports car of all time - - is available with 1.8- and 2.0-liter engines for 1975.

Both versions share many of the features that have made the 914 the most popular Porsche ever made. Both have engines mounted in front of the rear axle for excellent handling, luggage compartments both fore and aft, and a Targa-like removable hardtop that stows in the rear trunk. This year the roll bar is covered with leather-like vinyl. Also new are rugged, self-restoring energy absorbing black bumpers with built-in fog lamps.

The removable hardtop roadster can be purchased with a 1971 cc (120.3 cu. in.) engine that develops 84 brake horsepower (SAE net) at 4900 rpm or a 1975 cc (109.5 cu. in.) engine that develops 72 bhp (SAE net) at 4800 rpm.

Built in the tradition of the Porsche 917 series - - the mid-engined racers that captured World Manufacturers and Can-Am championships - - the 914's have such performance features as fuel-injection, 5-speed gear box and crisp rack and pinion steering.

An optional performance package can add a front spoiler, light mag wheels to decrease unsprung weight and front and rear sway bars.

In spite of excellent acceleration and top speeds of 113 (2.0 liter) and 107 (1.8 liter) miles per hour, both 914's offer excellent fuel economy. The 1.8-liter delivers 33 mpg (EPA highway cycle) and 21 mpg (EPA urban cycle). For the 2.0-liter version, the miles per gallon figures are 20 and 30 mpg.

Power is transmitted from the four cylinder air cooled engine through a double-jointed rear axle with independent coil-spring suspension. The front suspension is also independent and uses torsion bars.

The turning circle - - important in parking as well as autocross driving - - is a mere 36 feet. Radial tires are standard.

A wide range of options enables the 914 owner to "design" his own car. Optional or special paints supplement the wide range of standard colors and a tartan-cloth interior is available to add a touch of elegance. An appearance group can be ordered - - including center console with armrest and storage space, leatherette boot for the shifter, clock, oil temperature gauge, voltmeter and leatherette covered steering wheel. The package even includes a dual-tone horn.

The 914, in all of its guises, is available - - along with the familiar Porsche 911 line and Audi sedans - - through Park-Hegarty, Porsche-Audi, Inc., 222 Lowell St., Lawrence.

The latest MGB/GT coupe features completely restyled front and rear ends. The new GT has mat black wrap-around, molded polyurethane front and rear bumpers. While they are physically separate from the car body, the new bumpers appear integral with it. To the eye, they seem to be design extensions of the hood and rear deck lines.

Studded Tires Restricted

If you do a lot of interstate driving, you should be aware of the restrictions placed on studded tires by many states, advises ALA Auto and Travel Club.

States and provinces which impose absolute bans on studs (primarily because of the road damage which they cause) include Hawaii, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Ontario. Minnesota and Wisconsin (as of May 1) allow non-residents to use studs for only thirty days.

In addition, many states, including Massachusetts, are now considering absolute bans. Michigan will prohibit studs after April 1.

Added Car Weight Results In Penalty

The fuel penalty for each additional 100 pounds of direct weight can run as high as 32 gallons a year for a full-size car, according to a report recently published by General Motors.

The question of weight addition has become important because of the debate over proposed additional government safety, damageability, and emission standards which will increase weight and hurt fuel economy.

GM says that gasoline consumption under city-suburban driving conditions has been found to increase initially about seven gallons per 100 pounds of added weight during one car year, or 10,000 miles of use. However, the auto maker says, such an increase in fuel use does not take into account the fact that as vehicle weight increases, acceleration performance suffers. Valid comparisons of fuel economy potential can only be made between cars with equal performance.

To maintain equal performance, fuel consumption more than doubles to 16 gallons for every hundred pounds of added weight, GM reports.

There are indirect effects, too. Each direct increase of 100 pounds can easily generate a hundred pounds of additional changes to maintain the performance, function, and durability of all other car components the manufacturer says.

"This magnifies the significance of each pound added and makes the fuel consumption penalty grow to 32 gallons per car year for each 100 pounds of direct weight added," GM says. "In fuel cost alone (at 50 cents per gallon) this means that the customer will pay $16 every year."

Schena Offers The Bricklin

The Bricklin is the first new auto to be offered by an independent manufacturer in more than 20 years.

The Bricklin dealer in this area is Ken Schena Auto Sales Inc., 1 River St., Haverhill.

The auto is the brainchild of Malcolm Bricklin and is being assembled in New Brunswick. The auto is the first production safety car.

Its standard engine is an American Motors - manufactured V-8, and standard equipment includes power steering and air conditioning. The transmission is either a four speed manual or an automatic, both included in the standard list price.

Gull-wing doors, reminiscent of the famed Mercedes Benz 300SL sports car, are also standard on the Bricklin.

The Bricklin doors are power operated and open at the touch of a button.

Bumpers on the auto are designed to recede into the body of the auto, absorbing the shock of impact.

Gene's Garage Offers Austin, Saab

Gene's Garage has been in existence for 48 years.

The agency offers the Austin Marina, the Austin MG as well as the Swedish-made, front-wheel drive Saabs.

The Marina, British Leyland Motor Corp.'s entry in the compact car market, features a four-cylinder engine, power-assisted disc brakes, rack and pinion steering, radial ply tires, a large trunk, welded unit body construction cut pile carpeting, tinted glass, reclining seats, self-adjusting inertia reel lap-shoulder safety belts and optional air conditioning.

It is available in a four-door sedan and a two-door GT model.

The firm first opened as a service station and garage, headed by Eugene L. Berube. He first ventured into the auto business with a service station and repair shop at Hampshire and Canal Streets some 41 years ago.

Roger W. Berube is general manager. The firm employs 10 people and has both indoor and outdoor display areas.

Vinyl Tops

This year more than 50 per cent of all new cars will have vinyl tops. But if you're like many of today's 25 million vinyl top owners you may not know how to protect your vinyl top from fading, cracking and deteriorating.

1. Clean only with products recommended for exterior vinyl, four to six times a year, depending on exposure and climate.

2. Remove dulling road film with a soft bristle brush and the foaming action of a recognized aerosol vinyl top cleaner.

3. Shine and protect all vinyl colors with vinyl top dressing three to four times a year.

4. Restore gloss to black vinyl tops with a newly developed wax specifically for black vinyl.

Oil Filter Is Cheap Insurance

Do you think twice and then say "no" when your automotive serviceman suggests replacing the filter when you have your car's engine oil changed? Think a third time in the future, for this is a basic example of false economy. Here's why: the oil filter contains the dirtiest quart of oil in your car's engine. It's where all of the contamination, acid and grit from the engine are trapped, to protect those vital parts. So when you drain the old oil and pour in 4 or 5 quarts of clean oil, it immediately mixes with that dirtiest quart and you're well on your way to con-taminating that fresh crankcase of oil.

Engineers Tackle Automotive Noise

Quietly, sound engineers are hunting for ways to save us not only from sounds we can hear now, but also from sounds which we can't yet hear and hopefully never will.

A surprising fact about sound control when applied to motor vehicles: even when the noisiest vehicles are quieted, total traffic noise levels might still be considered unacceptable.

Motor vehicle manufacturers have been conducting vehicle noise research for many years. They have found that truck and bus noise comes from several sources; the engine, exhaust system, cooling fan and other vehicle components, including tires on pavement at speeds above 35 miles per hour.

Through experimentation they've found ways of quieting a truck by using a special engine cooling fan, a more sophisticated muffler and a cocoon-like capsule to enshroud the engine. These methods are expensive and are not all standard production items yet, but improved technology is being used. New trucks are a lot less noisy than those of just a few years ago.

Engineers are having to overcome some problems along the way. A more efficient muffler can also increase engine back pressure, reducing usable horsepower and increasing fuel consumption. Insulating an engine can also raise heat levels to the danger point, not to mention additional expense and inconvenience for mechanics.

It is true - - when noise-producing vehicles are removed from traffic, the total acoustical noise level is reduced. However, combined sources add to the total noise level by logarithmic proportions, instead of arithmetically. Therefore, half of the vehicles of equal sound-producing ability could be removed or quieted and still the total acoustical noise level would be reduced by only a small percentage; not by one-half.

The Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association has urged an overall approach to community noise abatement programs. There is a role, not only for the vehicle manufacturer, but for the highway designer, for the legislator, enforcement officers, and for individual drivers and users of sound-producing products.

The Environmental Protection Agency, under provisions of the federal Noise Control Act, is expected soon to tell vehicle manufacturers that their new trucks will have to meet certain noise standards. But even before the federal act, the industry had made much progress in vehicle noise control.

How To Foil Car Thieves

A car is stolen in the U.S. about every 30 seconds. Thieves - - more than half of them teenagers - - will have made off with almost 1 million autos by the end of this year, one for every 100 registered.

To make sure that yours is not the one, the National Association of Independent Insurers offers these tips:

- Lock your car. As obvious as this advice may appear, studies show that 80 per cent of all stolen cars were left with the keys in the ignition.

- Take the keys. Never leave valuables in sight. Some thieves, known as "boosters," specialize in stealing items from the car interior.

- Never hide extra keys in the car.
- Never leave the registration in the car unless local laws require it.
- If your car is stolen, report it promptly. The quicker you report the loss, the better the police's chances of recovering it and the less time the thieves have to strip off parts.
- Park in well-lighted, well-trafficked areas.
- If you don't already have it, look into obtaining comprehensive insurance coverage.

We think it would be great if you could see more than a Saab in a Saab showroom. Because we'd like you to make some very careful comparisons between our car and the other cars you might be considering.

You could compare Volvo's durable construction, for example, with our unitized steel body with more than 4,000 welds, six strong steel posts and door impact panels.

You could compare the interior of an Audi to the spacious interior of a Saab. And you could compare Audi's standard luxury features to Saab's nylon-velour, reclining front bucket-seats, fold-down rear seat and tinted windows.

You could compare Dasher's 23 miles per gallon to Saab's 21 miles per gallon.*

You could compare BMW's exciting performance features to our front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, power-assisted, four-wheel disc brakes and fuel-injected, 2-liter engine.

You could compare Peugeot's smooth, comfortable ride to ours. We think you'll find ours extremely smooth and quiet because of our pivot-spring front suspension.

And you could compare such extra-quality features as four-wheel disc brakes on Mercedes-Benz with the same features on Saab. You'll see why both Mercedes-Benz and Saab are known for their abilities in engineering design, and automotive research.

Of course, every Saab showroom can't have all these cars.

But you can walk into any Saab showroom and find durability, luxury, economy, performance, comfort and quality.

Code For Automobile Service

A recently adopted code for responsible auto repair practices might just serve as an effective way for motorists to locate a permanent reliable auto repair facility.

The ten point "Code of Responsible Automotive Servicing Practices" is the work of the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (NIASE). Its spokesmen say it hopes the code will be "implemented widely to assure high standards in automotive service and repair."

The code, according to NIASE, is based on a similar, but less specific one proposed earlier by the Sub-Council on Performance and Service

Gardeners Raise Hoes Against Inflation

By Linda S. Corbett

Last year, 26 Andover families planted seeds on Conservation Commission soil, up near the Merrimack River, to put vegetables on their tables and in their freezers for the winter ahead.

This year, with sowing season on the horizon and food prices still out of sight, 61 families have joined the Andover Community Gardeners. They have permission to use even more land off River Road, near the Deer Jump Reservation -- and they have a waiting list besides.

Most of the Members, like co-chairman Carol DeLiere who lives in Shawsheen, have chosen this route because they simply don't have room to grow vegetables where they live.

While waiting for their assigned plots to be plowed and the danger of frost to pass, the Gardeners have been meeting to set up some rules and committees, such as an "awareness" group that could, among other things, see that excess crops get to the elderly or needy.

The Gardeners are having another general meeting this Sunday, at 2 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library.

Meanwhile, up the road in West Boxford, there's another sort of mass gardening going on at the privately - owned Ames Alderbrook Farm.

There, plots are rented out at an appealing enough rate that small gardeners -- many of them from the Andovers -- have already applied for nearly 100 of the 250 available.

Bill Ames, who says he's getting restless waiting for the northwest wind to quit, is nevertheless far ahead of last year's schedule and hopes for a May 8 beginning at the farm, a mile north of West Boxford, off Route 133.

The Ames moved back East two years ago (Bill, a former Colorado rancher prepped at Deerfield Academy, and his wife, Nancy, is a native New Englander) and bought their farm the first of June last year, almost a month late for the planting season.

They didn't even get the tractor out until the 10th of June, Ames says, but even so, their "prize" gardener raised some $700 worth of vegetables. That particular man, Ames says, worked his plot for a couple of hours three nights a week.

The Ames rental plots are 20 by 60 feet, and plowing, rocking, fertilizing, picnic and shelter areas, go along with the deal. New storage lockers are available for an additional fee.

At the West Andover gardening project, plots range from 25 by 25 feet, up to a quarter of an acre. There is a token membership fee, plus a small fee for plowing.

Those who had plots last year can start anytime they've rototilled says Carol, though members who have taken annexed land will have to wait for plowing and harrowing.

Carol and her husband, Chuck, who are still eating frozen green beans from last summer's garden, have upgraded the size of their plot this year, and plan to set aside one corner for the children to plant watermelon, popcorn and pumpkins.

Carol's past successes include tomatoes, summer and winter squash, carrots, lettuce and radishes.

She plants sunflowers to attract bees, and marigolds to repel insects, but adds that they look pretty too.

Most people use natural fertilizer, she goes on, and a few brought water along in five gallon containers to try to beat last summer's drought.

The group is now looking into a tank truck, or some other solution, in case of a return drought.

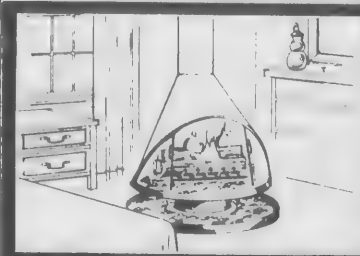

Persons interested in going on the waiting list for the Gardeners -- and they hope they'll be able to get more conservation land to plow under -- may call Carol or the other co-chairman, Mrs. Larry Loughner. Other new officers of the group are Chuck DeLiere, treasurer, and Mary Ellen Ronan, secretary.

Clown Town Is Coming

Members of the Andona Society are making final preparations for their annual "Clown Town," which will be held May 17, rain or shine, at the Andover Playstead on Bartlet Street.

Games, rides, booths, puppets, clown hats, baked goods and cotton candy will decorate the field from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., along with pony rides, roving photographers and the fire engine ride.

The big show, a two-act, 45-minute plan, will be "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," performed by the Andover Community Theater (ACT). Curtain time will be 10:30 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m., in the East Junior High School Auditorium.

Chairmen for Clown Town this year are Diana Appleton, Carolyn Dalton and Marie Flynn.

Increasing shortages of chemical fertilizers make it important that they be used with care. Follow the instructions on the package or the advice of your knowledgeable garden center. ## Responsibility And Youth

Before adjourning further commentary on this year's annual town meeting, we feel it somewhat significant that a group of people, one devoted to the town, was actually responsible for completing action on the warrant.

Aiding immeasurably in gaining a quorum on the final night, in order that the '75 warrant could be completed, was a group of senior citizens, who took the time to attend.

Noticeably absent were any of the community's young people, the portion of a large majority who were appealing successfully a few years ago for the right to vote, along with the right to drink.

For the elderly, we presume, it was simply a continuance of what they have been doing for years - - carrying out their civic duty.

For many, we trust, the extra effort meant putting aside some other activity of possibly a recreational nature. But they willingly participated in the meeting in a gesture of appreciation for the things the community provides for them.

They have the senior citizen housing projects in which they reside and Andover Haven, a place to meet and enjoy activities.

For this little bit which the town affords, they are appreciative, and demonstrate their gratitude when the opportunity presents itself, such as at town meeting time.

But, where were the youth of the community, the 18-21 year age block which was so insistent on being granted privileges a few years ago.

As we recall they desired the opportunity to participate in government, through granting voting privileges.

Legislative processes resulted in lowering not only the voting age, but the drinking age as well.

This latter privilege has been abused badly, as statistics will bear out. A high number of the fatal accidents recorded in the state and nation are attributed to teenage drinkers. There are other statistics to point out that responsibility did not accompany granting of the privilege.

We speculate that had young people in Andover, in this 18-21 age group, attended town meeting in good numbers, there would be no question of a quorum.

They would, by their attendance, show, what the town's senior citizens amply demonstrate - - that they are appreciative and accept responsibility.

The attitude of some youth, we fear, leans dangerously close toward, "what have you done for me lately."

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - April, 1900

The American Express has just shipped eight horses for T. W. Lawson to Charter Oak Park, Hartford, Conn. The horses have been quartered at the Richardson farm for the winter.

A reception to the teachers in the public schools was tendered by the school committee this week and given at the home of the chairman, J. Newton Cole.

The Andover Gold Club has elected the following officers for the new year: George F. Smith, president; Walter Buck, vice president; W. H. Gile, treasurer; Prof. Charles H. Forbes, J. W. Tarbox and John Dove, greens committee.

A Republican Caucus was held in town hall Monday night for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend a convention to choose delegates for state and national office. Selected were Peter D. Smith, George Poor, Charles Green, William Odlin and A. S. Manning.

William M. Coutts has entered the employ of the Union Shuttle works of Lawrence. His place at H. F. Chase's bicycle store has been taken by George McKenzie.

50 Years Ago - April, 1925

The Andover Natural History Society elected officers for the year at its meeting this week, with Omar P. Chase to serve as president, Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith, vice president; Mrs. George Dick secretary and Miss Clara A. Putnam, treasurer.

The Andover Union of Christian Endeavor was host to 1500 delegates from throughout Essex County at the annual convention held in South, Free and Andover Baptist churches on Monday.

Off The Top Of The Desk

... and three if by air?

Little did Paul Revere know that's how President Ford would be arriving at Old North Church 200 years later to the day.

In fact, the President's helicopter flew him over Andover only a short time earlier last Friday night, on the way from a Concord, N.H., appearance, to the North End.

The flight pattern took him over the Horn Bridge a few minutes past 7:30, heading southeast.

The Bicentennial spirit also arrived here this week via rail.

The Freedom Train, powered by its giant steam locomotive, whoo-whooed northward through Andover last Wednesday morning, causing a rush-hour traffic tieup at Andover Street when it stopped to take on water.

The train rolled south again Saturday afternoon, on its way to a week-long stay on Pier 4, Boston, across from Anthony's Restaurant.

The 25-car, red, white and blue train will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily through Sunday, then chug on to Lowell for an April 29 to May 1 visit.

On board, a moving conveyor belt takes visitors through 200 years of American history in about 15 minutes, past such treasures as George Washington's copy of the Constitution, Paul Revere's saddle bags, moon rocks, President Kennedy's rocking chair, and President Lincoln's stovepipe hat.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for youths under 18 and senior citizens.

Further trivia for rail buffs: the Freedom Train carries 26 tons of coal and needs a refill every 150 miles. It also carries 19,000 gallons of water in its tender, has wheels nearly six feet high, and can pull an 800,000-pound load.

The Freedom Train has 130 employees and will be touring the country until December of 1976.

The fishin' poles have been bobbing around town rain or shine since Saturday, when the 1975 Massachusetts fishing season opened across the state. Youngsters 14 and under don't need licenses; everyone older can pick theirs up at Town Hall, for a fee.

Watering holes, streams and ponds in Andover are "wide open," except that fishing in Haggetts Pond is limited to residents only, and fishing in Hussey's Pond, Shawsheen, is limited to youngsters under 12.

Auction
Scene Of Yesteryear

This is not a scene from last year's Andover Recycling Committee auction, but rather, from the files of the Andover Historical Society, a moment at one of South Church's annual auctions of several years ago. The auctioneer is luring some bids on what appears to be a valuable chair, with many other items set for bid. While it is doubtful, it's just possible some of the items here may be on the block again at the annual town recycling auction set for May 3 at Andover Recreation Park. Residents are reminded of the opportunity to rid cellars and attics of unwanted items, with the town treasury being the benefactor from the event.

back North Vietnamese attacks if and when they came - we didn't. Instead we are leaving thousands of them and their families to certain death. The conscience of America should be deeply troubled.

Concerned Americans call for the immediate establishment of a defense perimeter backed by American firepower to insure the orderly evacuation of all those South Vietnamese who wish to seek asylum. This is minimum support for those who trusted us as friends and allies.

History documents in detail the mass liquidations that follow a communist take over. First to the wall will be those who openly supported or worked for the South Vietnamese or United States governments. While their graves are being dug lists will be drawn up of teachers, civil servants, labor leaders, business men, political opponents, independent thinkers, and all those who supported democracy or self determination for South Viet Nam.

In an ironic twist "liberals" and socialists are also high on the priority list for quick "liquidation." Personal scores will be settled by the gun - the notorious communist and national socialist formula for "final solutions."

CANS

Does President Ford really believe his warning to the world that the United States stands ready to support its friends and allies, and that our performance in Viet Nam ought not to be taken as a sign of weakness or lack of courage? What else is one to take it for? What does Moscow or China take it for?

We believe the American people are sickened by the weakness and insincerity America now shows in Viet Nam. They deplore the spectacle of betrayal and cowardice that is about to unfold. The Congress must not allow it to happen. We should and must depart the scene with some shred of national dignity and purpose.

An Art Exhibit entitled "A Greeting to Spring," featuring the metal sculpture of Ann Cleveland Lange of Andover, and the paintings of Calvin Libby of Nashua, N.H. will be shown in the lobby of the Colonial Restaurant, Lynnfield, on Sunday, May 4 from 2 to 7 p.m.

This show has been coordinated by Lynn Loscutt of Andover, who represents many distinguished award-winning artists. For this show Mrs. Loscutt has chosen the metal sculpture of Ann Cleveland Lange which suggests movement and life. Mrs. Lange's mobiles all express a rhythmic quality. They are free flowing in form and are designed primarily as accent pieces for the home and garden. These exciting sculptures combine with the rousing, brilliant colors and designs of Calvin Libby's acrylic paintings to suggest a mood of enthusiasm.

Mrs. Lange holds many distinguished awards for her work including the heralded "John Taylor Arms Award for Design."

Calvin Libby studied at the New England School of Art as well as the Trier Museum of Germany. Mr. Libby's work has been shown at the DeCordova Museum as well as the Boston Fine Arts Festival. He was chosen for the top contemporary design at the Cape Cod Association in '74.

The Toro Grassmaster.<sup>TM</sup> A rear bagger that's three mowers in one

The Grassmaster bags or mulches or disperses grass. It has a revolutionary new High-Torque<sup>TM</sup> engine and an ingenious "Quick-Change" rear bag. Read on.

The Grassmaster is a smorgasbord of engineering innovations. First, it has an exclusive High-Torque engine that delivers more cutting force with less noise.

A "Quick-Change" rear bag empties in seconds and holds up to 2 bushels of leaves or clippings.

For hard-to-mow spots, self-propelled models of the Grassmaster feature fixed-blade-speed moving. The blade speed and drive speed operate separately. So you can slow the drive speed without slowing blade speed or mowing power.

Yes, it does. Because the healing Principle taught and practiced by Christ Jesus can apply to anyone at any time. New proofs of its healing power occur every day.

Healing in Christian Science means much more than physical release. It means a victory over fear. A clearer understanding of God, and of yourself.

You're invited to learn more at our Sunday service. The Bible Lesson you'll hear will explain more of how Christian Science heals.

Don't you come this Sunday?

Exclusive Listings . . .

are you chicken
about putting all your eggs in one basket

Some property owners get the deep horrors about listing their property exclusively with one broker. They have visions of him fleeing to a vacation in the Sunny South, leaving them out in the cold, out of touch with the Real Estate market.

Can such a thing happen? Not if you're a Victor customer. We work as a team. Although we like the warmer climate as much as the next man, we don't depart en masse. A team member is always working in your behalf. Does it mean we're the only company actively interested in you? No. Once listed with us your property needs and objectives are publicized to a wide group of brokers. They work with us to get immediate action and results for you.

When you put all your eggs in the exclusive* Victor basket, things begin to happen. Try us and see.

*All our "Exclusive Listings" are put into "Multiple Listing Service" at once.

Seedlings To Be Given Arbor Day

Preparing Seedlings

As the result of a true community effort, Andover's Beautification Program is underway.

Early this year the Center Merchants voted to support and encourage the concept of adding trees which also helps the soil conservation of the community. Chairman Paul Gmyrek agreed that this is the sort of thing we should definitely encourage.

At this point, the Andover

Ecology Club under the direction of Peter Vulgaropulos offered to come forward and help to bag the 3000 seedlings ordered for this give-away on April 25, Arbor Day. Mr. Gmyrek added, "you can't believe how much three thousand is until you see all of these seedlings lined up and then you can believe that without the services of the Ecological Group, it would be very difficult to put our plan into action."

The two spaces fronting Town Hall will be occupied by Jeffrey S. French who will share his knowledge of plant life with Andover citizens in the morning and the Chamber are now in the process of filling in the remainder of the day with some other type of beautification demonstrations.

This is one of the many activities the Center Merchants enjoy participating with other civic groups in Andover, for the betterment of the town.

The Freedom Train will be on Pier 4, Boston, through April 27. Hours: Sunday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 8 a.m. till midnight.

Garbage Collection To Stop

The special collection of garbage only will stop as of Monday, May 5, according to Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

Austin said the town's contract with Nabydoski Brothers of Blanchard Street runs out as of that date. Not renewing the contract will save the town some $70,000 he said.

Austin suggested that residents who have not already been doing so, wrap their garbage in plastic or newspaper, and place it in their regular rubbish bags on regular collection days.
